Production Quality Technician

We are seeking a Production Quality Technician at our headquarters, in Bartlett, IL that is well versed in mechanical inspection. Your primary objective is to manage and execute quality analysis on tooling manufactured for PLASTICS, NONWOVENS, PACKAGING and METALS divisions. An eye for detail is needed in this position, you will seek out clarification from counterparts (internal & external) regarding technical details and optimization of the tooling. Our Production Team will find you to be a valuable asset in all finishing aspects of production: finish bead blasting, laser marking, deburring, lapping, and all other final production steps. You will play a crucial role in ensuring customer satisfaction through customization, complying with customer specifications and tuning of the acoustic tooling manufactured at Herrmann Ultrasonics.

What makes Herrmann stand out:

- Family owned business
- Global technology leader
- Investment in employee education through Herrmann Academy
- Rewarding business model with competitive benefits
- A respect for people, process and the planet

What sets you apart:

- +3 years' experience in manufacturing
- Use of the "hands-on" inspection equipment used for product verification (micrometers, calipers, comparators, height stands, etc.), accuracy (The 10% rule) and repeatability (Margin of error).
- Bi-lingual (German or Spanish) helpful
- Microsoft Office, Outlook and ERP proficiency

Cole Naumvoski will be your colleague at Herrmann Ultrasonics. What he enjoys most about working in the OPERATIONS department:
